

Travel guide to the Department of Biochemistry

The Department of Biochemistry is part of the Institute of Biochemistry and Technical Biochemistry. It is located in the Center of Bioprocess Engineering at Allmandring 31, 70569 Stuttgart, Germany.

Arrival by train

You will arrive at Stuttgart Central station. Follow the green "S-Bahn" signs (the S-Bahn station is one level below the train station) and take one of the trains "S1", "S2" or "S3" (direction "Vaihingen", "Herrenberg", "Böblingen", or "Flughafen") until you reach the station "Universität" (4th stop). Leave the station by the stairs near the rear of the train.

Don't forget to buy an "S-Bahn" ticket. There are ticket machines at every station. You have to press "002" for 2 zones. If you travel in a group, you can buy a group ticket (called "Tageskarte") which is valid for 5 persons. Alternatively, buy your railway ticket till Stuttgart-University. Then, no extra S-Bahn ticket is needed (cheapest solution).

See below for the footpath from the S-Bahn station to the Department.

Arrival by car

Highway: Take the "Autobahn" A8 or A81, leave at "Autobahnkreuz Stuttgart", direction "Stuttgart Zentrum" via the A831, and after the short tunnel take the exit "Universität".

From Stuttgart downtown: Take the B14 direction "Böblingen", then via "Schattenring", take the exit "Universität". A map of the university campus is shown below.

There are parking lots directly in front of the Center of Bioprocess Engineering.

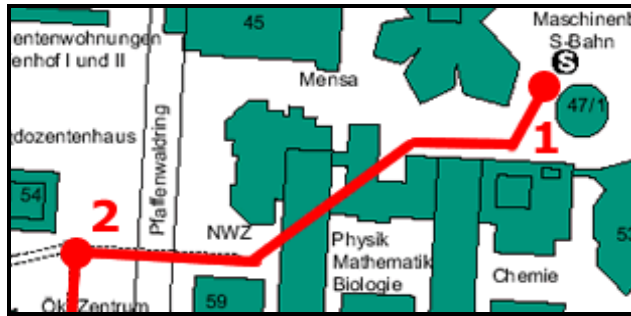

How to get to the ITB from the airport

At the airport follow the green "S-Bahn" signs (the "S-bahn" station is below the airport buildings). Take one of the trains "S2" or "S3" (directions "Schorndorf" or "Backnang"). Leave the train at station "Universität". Leave the station by the stairs near the front of the train.

Don't forget to buy an "S-Bahn" ticket. There are ticket machines at every station. You have to press "002" for 2 zones. Alternatively you can buy a group ticket (called "Tageskarte") which is for 5 Persons.

See below for the footpath from the S-Bahn station to the Department.

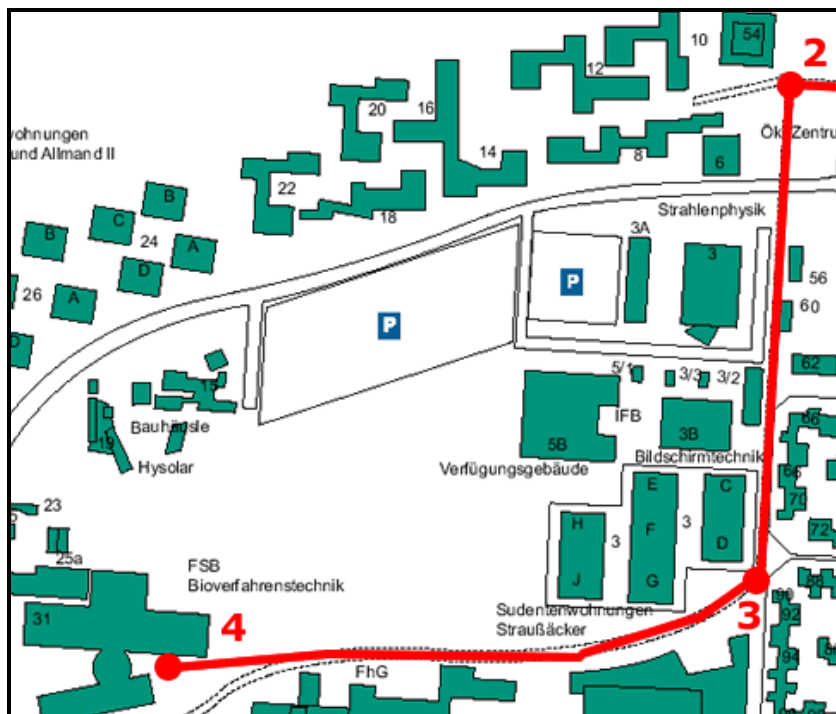

Footpath from the S-Bahn station to the Department of Biochemistry

After leaving the S-Bahn at the university station (1) you head left until you see the library. Walk along the library building and keep left. Walk through the underpass until you see a bridge over a street. Walk over that bridge (there is a small lake at your right). Now you have reached point (2) in map.

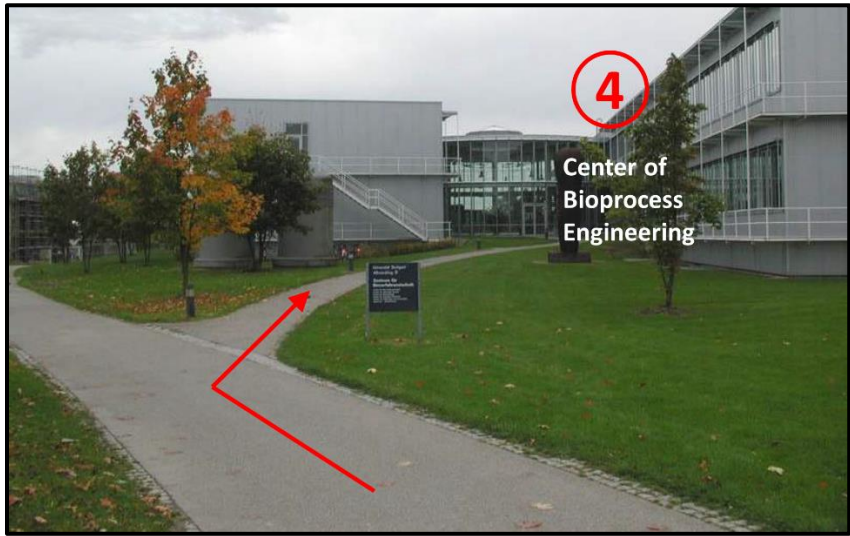

Directly after the bridge, turn left, cross another bridge, and keep straight on for about 200 meters.

At the crossing (3), turn right and follow this way for another 300 meters.

Now, you can see the Center of Bioprocess Engineering (4). After entering the atrium turn left and right following the dark red signs labelled with "Biochemie".

Some map of the University Campus Vaihingen. The location of the Department Biochemistry is indicated (*).

